Performance Chart

Overview and Outlook

The month of July was another negative month for the UAE, with the Dubai Financial Market (DFM) losing 5.82% and the Abu Dhabi Securities Market (ADSM) losing 3.80% during the month. The month's decline was mainly concentrated in banks and financial sector overall, while the industrial and telecommunications sectors were flat.

The UAE stock markets reacted negatively to the second quarter results announcements especially banks results as some banks registered negative earnings growth in the absence of IPO related income. The non-banking sectors registered a mixed performance with the companies that were invested heavily in the stock markets achieving investment losses because of the lackluster market performance. Major companies such as Emaar and Etisalat continued to record moderate growth. The results came in line with our expectations and represent normalized earnings in the absence of IPO and investment related income.

Your fund posted a loss of 0.54%, significantly outperforming the benchmark by 2.46%. Our investment strategy has helped us minimize the outcome of the prevailing bearish market conditions.

Currently, we are utilizing the fund's cash cushion to increase our positions in value stocks as we believe these companies will exhibit strong growth, resulting in attractive valuations at these prices. We continue to hold a positive outlook on our holdings since their quarterly earnings momentum is expected to resume from the third quarter of 2006, on the back of continued core earnings growth.
